

Le Moo Fine+Steak+House Named One of the Top 20 Steakhouses in America by USA Today

Louisville, Kentucky — December 19, 2025 — Le Moo Fine+Steak+House, the award-winning luxury steakhouse in Louisville, Kentucky, has been named one of the Top 20 Steakhouses in America by USA Today, one of the nation's most influential and widely read publications.

This national recognition places Le Moo Fine+Steak+House among an elite group of America's most exceptional steakhouses, celebrated for premium beef programs, elevated culinary execution, distinctive architectural design, and world-class hospitality. USA Today's annual list highlights restaurants that define excellence in the modern American steakhouse experience.

Founded by Kevin Grangier, Le Moo Louisville has become a destination steakhouse known for meticulously sourced prime steaks, wagyu offerings, signature steak flights, curated bourbon and wine programs, and a bold, contemporary atmosphere that reimagines the classic steakhouse for today's luxury diner.

"Being named one of the Top 20 steakhouses in America by USA Today is an extraordinary honor," said Kevin Grangier, Founder of Belle Noble Hospitality Group. "Le Moo was built to stand confidently on a national stage while remaining deeply rooted in Louisville. This recognition reflects our team's discipline, creativity, and relentless focus on delivering an unforgettable guest experience—every table, every night."

Le Moo's inclusion on this national list further solidifies Louisville's reputation as a culinary destination and reinforces Belle Noble Hospitality Group's position as a leader in experience-driven, award-winning restaurant concepts.
